

Alisha Hoffman-Mirilovich is the Executive Director of Action Together NEPA, a grassroots non-profit advocacy organization. Action Together NEPA prioritizes community action and political advocacy, working to educate and engage voters throughout northeastern Pennsylvania, and advocating for expanded access to the ballot box for all.

Alisha serves her community as a volunteer for many local organizations. She is member of the Executive Committee for the Wilkes-Barre Area NAACP, working to advocate for equality of rights of people of color in Wilkes-Barre and throughout Luzerne County. Alisha currently serves as the President of the Board of Directors for In This Together NEPA, a nonprofit organization that works to build community and increase civic engagement. Alisha also serves on the Board of Directors for Ecumenical Enterprises, Inc., a non-profit, faith-based organization which assists the community with moderate to low income housing in the greater Wyoming Valley area. She is in her second term as an elected Pennsylvania Democratic State Committee member for Luzerne County.

Alisha graduated from Marywood University with a BA in History, Social Studies - Secondary Education. She earned a Master's degree in History from East Stroudsburg University. She completed coursework towards earning a PhD at Lehigh University with specializations in Colonial America, African American History, Gender History, and Public History.
